

1,001 Words on Favor: A Daily Declaration

I declare the favor of God goes before me today; it is in my past; it is in my present; it is in my future; I declare Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, today and forever, is perfect and unchangeable. He always has been; he always will be. He is my Savior. I declare Holy Spirit guides me into favorable pathways.

I declare the favor of God, the goodness and mercy twins, follows after me even through the valley of the shadow of death. I declare the favor of God is preservation to my right and on my left for the destroyer felling a thousand at my side and ten thousand at my right hand will not come near me. I declare the favor of God is below my feet as a sure, well-lit pathway of firm stepping-stones. I declare the favor of God is above my head as a cloud of protection by day and a glory flame of fire by night.

I declare the favor of God saturates me for Christ goes before me and after me; in me and on me; below me, above me and through me.

I declare my imagination is under the authority of the Word of God. My thoughts favor others and myself for Christ is in my thoughts. I take captive every imagination to the obedience of Christ. I recognize the power within me believing I can have whatsoever I can think on or ask for.

I choose to think on things that edify and encourage. I choose to think on things that are exceeding abundantly beyond my natural expectation or capability of achieving. If I can imagine it, God is way beyond it. I stretch my imagination to think big, bold thoughts that make me tremble for if I do not tremble at the extravagant heart of my Father, I do diminish him.

I choose to believe in an exponentially magnificent Father who loves me extravagantly, has every resource at his disposal for kingdom expansion through me, and whose generosity toward me knows no limitation. The Word of God renews my mind for I have the mind of Christ.

I declare my emotions bring favor to myself and to others for I yield my emotions to Christ. I flow with emotions that favor righteousness, joy and peace in the Holy Spirit. I take authority over my emotions bringing them into submission to the eternal will of the Father. I choose to command my emotions rather than have my emotions commandeer me.

I bind emotions that would strike out to kill, steal, and destroy. I loose emotions so Christ's abundant life flows through all that I think and feel, say and do.

I declare my words are Holy Spirit anointed words favoring myself and others for Christ is in my words; I speak only what I hear the Father say setting a watch before my lips that I might not sin against God.

I declare my actions are aligned with the Will of God bringing favor on all whom I touch today. My actions display the favor of God; my actions are aligned with Christ who is aligned with the Father who is full of faithfulness and mercy and compassion.

I choose to walk in mercy for mercy triumphs over judgment. I am called to have dominion over natural elements and generosity towards people. Today, I choose to excel in the grace of giving. I choose to see the best in those with whom I mix and mingle. I choose to speak the best about those with whom I have relationship. I choose to loose the best for those in authority over me both politically and spiritually. I choose actions that will bring favor on those who trespass against me. I choose actions that release the flow of God's favor in the world through me.

I choose the favor of God today. I choose to receive God's favor. I choose to flow with God's favor. I choose to believe that God is a good God and that Our Heavenly Father has immeasurable favor stored up for the righteous. I tap into favor that lies dormant in my family line. I draw from heaven's storehouse the favor that is laid up for previous generations of my family not yet withdrawn. I respond to the open door and the heartfelt invitation to "come up here." By faith, I reach into the heavenlies catching God's view of his extravagant love for the family of man. I draw on my heavenly account believing that my God-given dreams have magnificent resources in heaven to bank roll manifestation in the earth. I declare as in heaven so on earth.

I choose to be a conduit of favor for future generations. I look hundreds of years into the future, should Jesus tarry, believing that favor will flow to and through my family so mankind is blessed in each generation. I believe my family line has favor with the Father. I believe my family line will bless and not curse. I believe my family line will be the head and not the tail. I believe God has a destiny for each member of my family to a thousand generations of those that love him.

Today I choose the favor of God.

I choose to think on it. I choose emotions that support it.

I choose to speak of it. I choose to act on it.

I choose the favor of God in every circumstance realizing favor sometimes appears as momentary disfavor only to be proven later as providential favor sparing me from deep disappointment and long-lasting disfavor.

Today, I choose God's favor declaring it will have first place in my mind, my heart, my soul and my strength. I choose God's favor for my neighbor as I choose it for myself.

I choose favor because I choose the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit as my One-True God to whom I pledge my absolute fidelity.

I declare I am God's favorite!

©2011 Marlee Huber. For more encouraging words, subscribe to www.yourflourishinglife.wordpress.com
Feel free to share this declaration keeping the copyright notice, author's name and contact information with it.